

Lucy Shaw

Editorial Assistant

Dominique Cornin Macon-Chanes, Les Serreudieres, Domaine de Lalande, 2006

Having rushed around town, attending a viewing of the Tate Modern's Constructivism exhibition, then on to the launch of London Restaurant Week, I wanted nothing more on arriving home than to dive into a refreshing white. This delivered. An attractive yellow gold colour, the nose showed bright citrus notes, crisp green apple and juicy pear. Soft, supple and round, it slipped down like liquid silk, offering wonderful whacks of floral honey and white peach. A young, vibrant gem of a wine with captivating minerality and a creamy lingering length. Dangerously delicious.

Karel

-----Oorspronkelijk bericht-----

Van: Decanter Magazine [mailto:Decanter@ipc.chtah.com]

Verzonden: maandag 9 maart 2009 18:39

Aan: karel@graafbourgognes.nl

Onderwerp: Ten great wines from the specialist merchants recommendations '); //--> on decanter.com

9 March 2009

Ten great wines from the specialist merchants

It sounds like one of the dullest wine trade conventions but SITT (the Specialist Importers Trade Tasting), is actually one of the most exciting tastings of the year. It showcases some of the most fascinating, small-parcel and out-of-the-way wines available in the UK, and is inked into every serious critic's diary. So here we bring you ten great wines from the specialist merchants. Enjoy!

PLUS: Jacob's Creek, Domaine de Lalande, Niel Joubert, Reliquia Barbadillo have all been on the Decanter staff wine list this week. Find out more in What we've been drinking

Santé

Christelle Guibert, tastings director

This week's top 10: Ten great wines from the specialist merchants